CORRESPONDENCE

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, May 11, 1868.

Editors Intelligencer: Youth and vigor are characteristics of Chicago. Everything looks new, and has an eye to effect. Nothing is superanuated, nothing supernumerary,—to use Methodistic phraseology, which we perhaps unconscious-ly borrow from the Methodist General Conference now in session here. Things servicable yesterday, but not remaining servicable yesterday, but not remaining so to-day, are unceremoniously and without compunction thrown aside, to give place to that which will vigorously do to-day's work. It is difficult to perceive how Chicago could condemn the Hindoo for drowning his no longer the Hindoo for drowning his no longer serviceable parents in the Ganges.

Everybody is at work, and in a hurry. Nobody lounges. There are no loafers. If any one should set himself here to the doing of nothing, he would soon so catch the surrounding spirit as to do it with all his might. John Gilpin has converted the whole city. Once here, and you can no more help moving than you can help being jammed in the crowd that surge in at the opening of the door at Spurgeon's Tabernacle; of the door at Spurgeon's Tabernacle; and, once moving, there is no place, nor time, nor chance to stop. You go ahead, you accelerate your steps, you hurry, you run—there is no station, no stopping, but in bankruptcy or death, and the ruling passion is strong even in these.

and the ruling passion is strong even in these.

And so the city is growing with unexampled rapidity, stretching its arms in every direction, and taking all that it touches to itself. Peaceful farmers, dreaming of residing far away from the vices of the city, wake up to find the surveyor laying off an avenue through their grain fields, and a carcactar autifing una corner store in the penter putting up a corner store in the midst of their garden vegetables, and six "real estate" men waiting to get his ear to know what he will take for Apparently impossible schemes find Aparently impossible schemes find no greater difficulty than overcoming the increduality of the outside world. A few yet want to drink water, and forthwith an engineer takes a squad of workmen, goes down under Lake Michigan, and brings thence, in abundant supply, the best water any of our American cities can boast. Chicago river, into which the sewers mostly run, moves too aluggish to carry off the filth, leaving it to breed malaria and invite death. Forthwith huge pumps are put in up at Bridgeport, and by their action the river is made to run up hill, and this accumuted putridity is discharged into the Illinois river, to run into the Gulf of Mexico, and by the movement of the pumps and of gravitation it is aerated and purified, and the separated gasses are made the source of more abundant vegetable life along the basin of the receiving river. Whether its moral filth can be so easily disposed of is not apparent.

Closely associated, yet often not asceiving river. Whether its moral filth can be so easily disposed of is not apparent.

Closely associated, yet often not associating, are extreme and representative elements, good and bad, of almost everything that anywhere effecte humanity. Churches and brothels stand in wonderfully close proximity. The Young Men's Christian Association presents some of the most admirable traits of human character and deeds, anywhere to be found, while the worst and most desperate profligacy is organized at the next door to carry on the works of death. Many of the noblest women, whose deeds are woven into the records of imperishable fame, and linked forever with the precious memories of the dearest associations that can cluster around the hospital and the field of carnage, have a home in Chicago. In addition, there are said to be there also some 14,000 women of easy virtue, of the various grades of female degradation.

there are said to be there also some 14,000 women of easy virtue, of the various grades of female degradation.

What Chicago is to be in the future, it may be difficult to tell. It now manifestly distances all our other intercontinental cities. St. Louis, from its situation and facilities, might have anticipated it, so that its present prestige had never been. To surpass it now, at this too late day, will be a much harder task, and will require an enterprise and an energy that is questionable if St. Louis possesses. At present, Chicago is the most enterprising and energetic city of the world.

SPIEGEL.

Methodist General Conference. CHICAGO, May 12, 1868.

From the N. Y. Tribune.

The man who has done more than all others, unless in pecuniary way, to secure this result, is Chief Justice Chase. He decided the vote of Mr. Van Winkle. He did his utmost—happily in vain—to carry off Messrs. Anthony and Sprague. We doubt that Mr. Henderson would have voted as he did but for the Chief Justice's exertions. Those exertions saved Andrew Johnson from the verdict which we feel that he has worked hard and successfully to deserve. The Republican party stands for ever relieved from all responsibility for Mr. Johnson's future misdeeds. Let him now wrest the command of the Army from Gen. Grant—let him wield the Millitary as well Civil power of the Government in the interest of Rebellion and Aristocracy—let him obstruct to the utmost the return of the Southern States, free and loyal, to the councils of the Republic—the country and the world will hold us wholly blameless. Messrs, Chase, Fessenden & Co., have taken the Old Man of the Sea upon their shoulders—we shall see how they bear up under the load! They have nine months ahead of such responsibility as we dot not covet—we shall be agreeably disappointed if it does not break them down.

Thanks to Infinite Mercy, there is an ordeal before us in which a concurrence of two-thirds is not required to insure a righteous verdict. Let Messrs. Chase, Fessenden & Co. take care of man Johnson, while we organize for and make certain the joyful advent of Grant and Victory!

It seems that Senator Ross, of Kanter and Victory! CHICAGO, May 12, 1868.

The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church now in session in this city, is noticeable for being the representative of the largest religious body in the United States, numbering over a million of members, and also for being the most numerously attended session of the Conference ever held, there being some two hundred and fifty delegates in attendance.

The principal interest thus far has been manifested over the question of admission to membership of delegates from Southern Conferences, organized since the last General Conference. That Conference was held just before the surrender of Lee, and when it was exceedingly difficult to divine what a day might bring forth. Power was given the Bishops to organize "Conferences," &c. But, as was inevitable, the provisions of the suthorizing act did not exactly fit the subsequently developed circumstances. as was inevitable, the provisions of the authorizing act did not exactly fit the subsequently developed circumstances. The Bishops, however, acted in their discretion, and organized Conferences in the Southern States, representing over a hundred thousand members, many of them colored. These elected delegates to the General Conferences in the Southern States, representing over a hundred thousand members, many of them colored. These elected delegates were two colored preachers. No one opposed their admission to seats constituted the point of debate. Among those delegates to the General Conference and their admission to seats constituted the point of debate. Among those delegates were two colored preachers. No one opposed their admission per se, though it was aurmised that such men as Dr. Henry Silicer and Rev. Mr. Lanahan, of Baitimore, did not feel very cointal foward conference association with the darkies. The ostensible ground of objection was purely technical, and it was admitted on all hands that if the alleged technical disability really existed, it could be removed by the Conference; and yet it took the best part of two weeks to decide the question. The delegates were finally admitted by a very strong vote. GRANT and VICTORY!

It seems that Senator Ross, of Kansas, is a very particular friend of Miss Vinnie Ream, the fascinating sculptress, and that she has been an active and persuasive advocate for Johnson's acquital. The charming artist will never bust an American Senator more successfully than she has done it for Ross.—Pittsburgh Gazette.

mitted by a very strong vote.

It was a little curious to find such men as Drs. Curry and Power, who, all their life long have been radicals and progressives, now the leaders of conservatism in opposing the admission. If the past record of their lives could cause us to expect anything conslon. If the past record of their lives could cause us to expect anything concerning them, it would seem to be that strict construction of constitution and laws mustgive place to right and justice, and especially that the benefit of doubt should be given to them. Nevertheless gentlemen were found pleading on the other side. Is it possible that their conduct is to be explained by a congenital penchant for being in opposition and in the minority. In Dr. Curry's case, it was privately explained by a venerable D. D. as "a peculiar pride, in subjecting the feelings to the intellect."

We pay particular attention to this branch of our business, and are at all times prepaired to furnish the best atticle and latest style at either their Wholesale or Retail stores.

play of "Much Ado About Nothing," and an illustration of the adage that "large bodies move slow." The question was included in a narrow range, and of ground familiar to all, and certainly ought to have been disposed of in one half day. It looked much as if members were spoiling to make speeches, perhaps to promote their chances of an election to the Bishopric, or an editorship, while it is a question whether some of them did not thereby lessen their chances.

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE Life of Grant.

In the newspaper discussion for the gressional nominations it seems to be assumed as a proposition not to be controverted, that the people of West Virginia owe quite a number of gentlemen Congressional honors and emoluments, and the controversy is whose claims are the most urgent and pressing, and whose can be postponed to a future time. I repudiate the whole doctrine. The people of West Virginia owe no man any office. No man has any right to complain of their refusal to elect him to an office. Offices were created for the public good, and not for the benefit of the office holder. And it is this cardinal error which fills the Councils of the Nation, and the offices of the Government with men wholly unfit for the positions they occupy. Offices are mere agencies for the transaction of the people's business, and in the election of officers men should be governed by the same considerations. BY A STAFF OFFICER. BY A STAFF OFFICER.

One of the essential qualifications for business of any kind is experience. No man would think of discharging a faithful and experienced agent, and appointing a green hand unless the one appointed had vastly higher natural or acquired qualifications than the one discharged.

This consideration induces me to prefer the nomination of Mr. Hubbard for this District. I believe it is not claimed for any other candidate that his qualifications are superior to Mr. Hubbard's, aside from the four years' experience which Mr. Hubbard has had. same members until they have established a reputation for honesty and intelligence that can command the confidence of Congress and the country.

There is another reason why I should prefer the nomination of Mr. Hubbard,
When the members of the Thirty-inith Congress were elected their compensation was fixed by law at $3,000 per annum. Before its close they raised the compensation of members to $5,000 per annum, to operate retrospectively so as to make their own compensation $5,000 per annum from the commencement of their term.

I leave out out of view the question as to whether $5,000 was too much or not. But the members of the Thirtyninth Congress were elected to serve at $3,000, and if they had told the people before they were cleated, that they would increase their pay to $5,000, we doubt very much whether the people would have given them the opportunity. MEDICAL ILLUMINATION! Four Magnificently Illustrated Medical Books, containing Important Physiological information for Men and Women, sent free on receipt of 25 cents, by addressing Dr. JOHN VANDERPOOL, No. 30 Clinton Place, New York City.

of the law in any other light than a naked fraud.

If they thought the pay of a member of Congress ought to be $5,000 a year, why did they not pass a law to operate prospectively as all other laws do. This would have given it the appearance of disinterestedness at least.

But this could not be done. If the law could not benefit the members voting for it, they would not yote for it at all. Circular, Mill, Mulay, Gang and Cross Cut SAWS. Every Saw that leaves our Factory is Of Tempered and Patent Ground, perfectly tru and even, and made of uniform temper by

But there is nothing in Mr. Hubbard's character to warrant such an imputation, and it is an exceedingly harsh and uncharitable thing to always attribute an honest and honorable act to a dishonest intention.

I have the charity to believe that Mr. Hubbard felt himself bound in conscience and honor to serve the term for which he was elected for the compensation fixed by law at the time of his election. Common shape, as good as the best. 7
